

Applying to Deliver the Competent Person in the Workplace (CPIW)* L3 Qualification with SFJ Awards

The qualification purpose is outlined below:

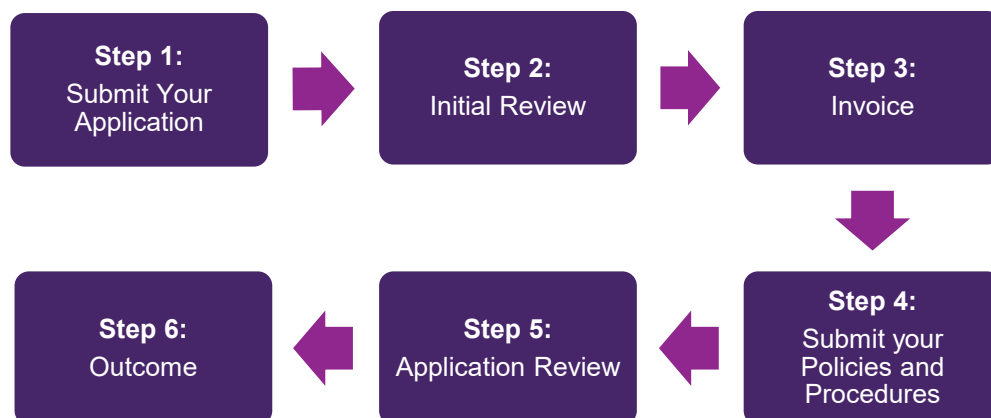

“Learners will gain an understanding of the methods used by terrorists, how to assess the likelihood of such threats, and what mitigation strategies are available. They will also learn how to apply these strategies effectively. Additionally, they will recognise the limits of their own expertise and understand when and how to seek advice or support from specialist professionals.”

Background

SFJ Awards are working in partnership with the National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO) to develop a Level 3, Ofqual-regulated qualification. The CPIW qualification is designed to help organisations design and develop suitable counter terrorism protective security and preparedness plans and mitigations. The qualification will be open to any person or organisation operating in any sphere.

Getting approval to deliver

Approval to deliver the CPIW qualification with SFJ Awards follows a two-stage approval process. This will allow us to speed up Centre applications once the qualification-specific details have been finalised. Please do not use this route if you intend to apply for any other SFJ Awards qualification.

- Stage 1 – Centre Recognition: This stage confirms that your organisation meets the requirements to become an SFJ Awards Centre. Stage 1 is now open for applications.
- Stage 2 – Qualification Approval: This stage confirms that your Centre is ready to deliver the CPIW qualification. Stage 2 will open in late autumn 2025.

You must first complete Stage 1 – Centre Recognition before progressing to Stage 2 unless you are already an SFJ Awards Centre.

Centre staff competence

Trainers / Assessors

Trainers / Assessors must be able to demonstrate consistent application of the skills and the current supporting knowledge and understanding in the context of a recent role directly related to the qualification unit(s) they are assessing as a practitioner, trainer or manager. Where assessors are assessing knowledge-based qualifications, they must be occupationally knowledgeable in the sector they are assessing in.

Trainers / Assessors must be able to make valid, reliable and fair assessment decisions. To demonstrate their competence, we expect trainers / assessors to:

- be qualified with a recognised trainer and assessor qualification, or working towards a recognised qualification* or relevant experience
- have appropriate Counter-Terrorism (CT) experience in relation to CT Protective Security, CT Preparedness and CT Risk Assessing

However, there may be circumstances when trainers or assessors have the equivalent competence through training to appropriate national standards, and SFJ Awards will agree this on a case-by-case basis.

The expectation is that those working towards a qualification should normally achieve within 12 months of their start date.*

Should further subject matter expertise be required there may be an opportunity to join a subject specific training course delivered by NaCTSO within a limited time period.*

Internal Quality Assurance

IQAs must be occupationally knowledgeable across the range of units for which they are responsible prior to commencing the role. Due to the risk-critical nature of the work, particularly in the justice, community safety and security sectors, and the legal implications of the assessment process, they must understand the nature and context of the assessors' work and that of their learners. This means that they must have worked closely with staff who carry out the functions covered by the qualifications, possibly by training or supervising them, and have sufficient knowledge of these functions to be able to offer credible advice on the interpretation of the units. To demonstrate their competence, IQAs must be:

- qualified with a recognised internal quality assurance qualification, or
- working towards a recognised internal quality assurance qualification.

However, there may be circumstances when IQAs have the equivalent competence through training to appropriate national standards, and SFJ Awards will agree this on a case-by-case basis.
